

Working women in BC make only 71¢ for every dollar earned by men.

Believe it!

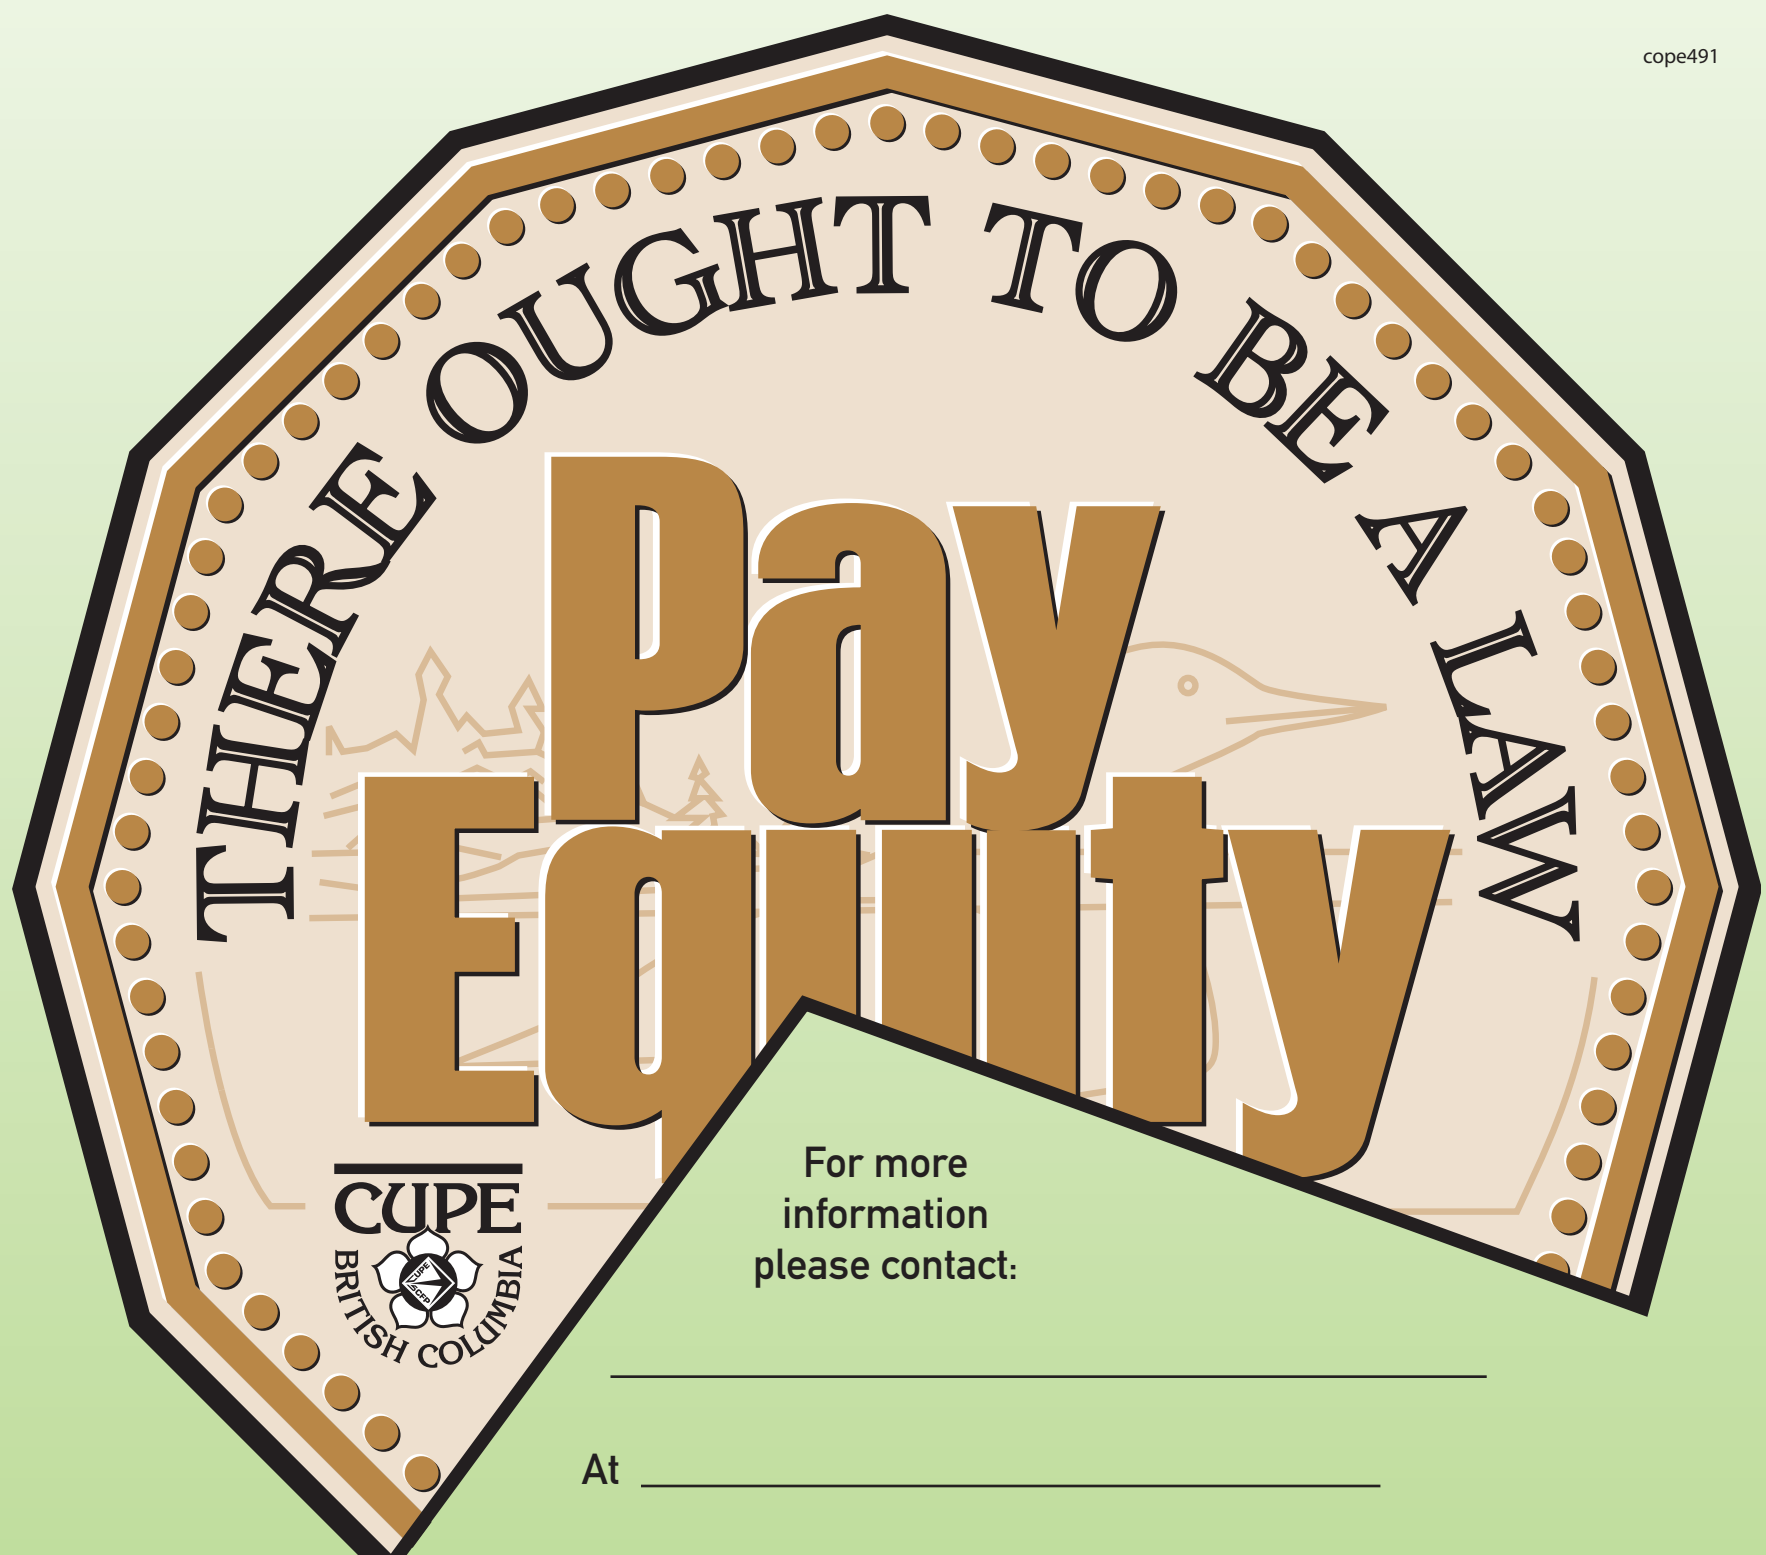

Many women still work in jobs that have historically been undervalued and underpaid. Some call it “women’s work”.

Pay Equity law would demand that women and men be paid equally for work of equal skill, responsibility, effort and working conditions.

CUPE BC continues to lead in demanding that pay equity legislation become a reality in BC. When it comes to pay equity...

There ought to be a law!
